"generally or specially" for "specially." This will dispense with the necessity for retaining a long list of Assessors as specially empowered to hold inquests."

The power to hold investigations into the causes of unnatural or suspicious deaths is one which may without objection be conferred on all Assessors generally. It can even now be exercised by Assessors in the absence of the Officers in charge of their Stations (Vide definition in Sec. 4(1)(p)); and all Village Patels have the power already (Vide sub Sec. (4) of Sec. 174).

The power is really one to hold an investigation and to make a report; any Magistrate can hold an inquest.

As regards the motive now put up, I will only remark that, as the epidemic of influenza referred to by the Inspector of Police has fortunately abated, it may not be quite necessary to make these special provisions at present; but that, if the matter comes within the ambit of the Rule is amended as suggested above, I see no particular objection to the draft forwarded.

Final Note by the Second Member of Council.

Subject:—

Amendment of Section 174 of Criminal Procedure Code so as to empower Duffedars generally with the power to hold inquests.

Paper under disposal

27) The Inspector General of Police represented that in cases of unnatural death there is considerable delay in the disposal of the dead bodies on account of the fact that Inspectors, Sub Inspectors and Jemadars are the only classes of subordinate Police Officers empowered to hold inquests and that as they may be away from their headquarters, it takes a long time for the information regarding such occurrences to reach them. During the last epidemic of influenza the necessity was largely felt of investing as many Police Officers as possible with the power to hold inquests. Under Section 174 of the Criminal Procedure Code it is only "the officer in charge of a Police Station or some other police officer specially empowered by the Government" that can hold inquests. Since Duffedars are not officers in charge of Police Stations, they have to be individually empowered by the Government, and the Inspector General of Police therefore suggested that some experienced Duffedars might be invested with the said power and submitted a list of such officers. In this connection the Inspector General of Police pointed out that Rule 94 of the Mysore Police Manual, as it stands at present, could not be legally supported as it contemplates the investment of Duffedars as a class with such power and he therefore suggested its amendment.

28) Jagan 3 & 4 of Office Note

3. Mr.Chandrasekhara Iyer, the then First Member of Council in charge of the Judicial portfolio, considered it desirable to slightly amend Section 174 of the Code of Criminal Procedure by substituting

"generally or specially" for "specially", thus dispensing with the necessity for notifying a long list of Duffedars from time to time as specially empowered to hold inquests.

3. A draft Bill was accordingly prepared and considered in Council who are of opinion that it is unnecessary to amend the Criminal Procedure Code, as proposed, and that the paragraphs in the Police Manual may be suitably modified so as to accord with the Criminal Procedure Code.

4. The opinion of the Council may be graciously approved.

1- JUL 1920

No. 4586/333 Office of the Inspector General of Police in Mysore,

Dated Bangalore, 8th January 1919.

From

Mir Hamza Husein Esqr., B.A., B.L.,

Offg. Inspector General of Police in Mysore.

To

C. S. Balasundaram Iyer Esqr., B.A.,

Chief Secretary to the Government of

His Highness the Maharaja of Mysore.

Sir,

I have the honor to state that during the last epidemic of influenza it was found necessary to invest as many Police officers as possible with power to hold inquests. At present, only Jamedars, Sub Inspectors and Inspectors are exercising this power, and as the head quarters of these officers are far away from very many villages in their jurisdiction, there has been considerable delay in the disposal of dead bodies. It is now proposed to invest some experienced Duffedars with the power. Rule 94 of the Mysore Police Manual, Vol. I no doubt gives this power to the Duffedars, but I beg to state that this is not in conformity with the provisions of the Criminal Procedure Code. Under Section 174 of the Criminal Procedure Code, it is only 'the officer in charge of a Police station or some other Police officer specially empowered by the Government' that can hold inquests. Now, the Duffedars are not in charge of Police stations. Their duties have been defined in Rules 93, 94 and 95 of the Mysore Police Manual, Vol. I and they cannot entertain complaints and investigate cases under chapter XIV of the Criminal Procedure Code. In order that they may exercise the power of holding inquests, they should be individually empowered by the Government. It seems to me that having regard to the language of the section, they cannot be empowered as a class. Rule 94 of the Mysore Police Manual, conferring such powers upon the Duffedars, as a class, cannot therefore be legally supported. The following sentence will have to be deleted from the Rule:--

"He can hold inquests and forward bodies for a post-mortem examination".

The proper procedure seems to be, when it is intended to invest a Police officer other than an officer in charge of a Police ~~officer~~ station, to invest him with the power by name.

A list of the experienced Duffedars whom the Deputy Commissioners have recommended for the grant of inquest powers is herewith submitted, and I beg that a notification may kindly issue in their favour, under section 174, Criminal Procedure Code.

Rule 93 says that a Duffedar is the Station House Officer's assistant. No such appointment is contemplated in the Criminal Procedure Code. This rule also requires amendment.

I have the honor to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

Offg. Inspector General of Police.

To

C. S. Balasundaram Iyer, Esquire, B.A.,
Chief Secretary to the Government of
His Highness the Maharaja of Mysore.

Sir,

With reference to your letter No.G.16462/Pol.134-18-2 dated 7th February 1919, requesting to be informed of the procedure in vogue in Bombay and Madras in the matter of empowering Police Officers, other than the officer in charge of a Police station, to hold inquests, I have the honor to state that Head Constables in Bombay and Madras correspond to our Duffedars. Those in the Bombay Presidency are not empowered to hold inquests as there are always 2 Sub Inspectors in charge of each station, while Head constables in the Madras Presidency are empowered under certain special circumstances (Vide extracts of Section 315 351 of the Bombay Police Manual and Sections 163 and 290 A of the Madras Order Book herewith forwarded.)

Reporting as to the procedure in vogue in Bombay and Madras in the matter of empowering police officers other than officers in charge of a Police station to hold inquests.

Extract of Section 163 and 290 A of the Madras Order Book.

Section. 163. Head constables are employed on general duty in Police stations under the station -house officer, as station-writers and in charge of out-posts and guards, and also in Reserves. They shall not be placed in station charge, except under section 4 (p) of the Criminal Procedure Code in the absence of the Sub Inspector nor shall they conduct independent investigations of cases, unless deputed to investigate simple cases under section 157 of the Criminal Procedure Code, or in the absence of the Sub Inspector.

Section 290. A. Head constables in charge of out-posts have been empowered to hold investigations under section 174 (1), Criminal Procedure Code,. It is not however, the intention of this order to absolve the station-house officer from any responsibility. On the other hand the duty of holding such an investigation primarily rests with him and he should, whenever possible, hold the investigation himself but the reduction of police stations has made it difficult for him to attend to every case. It is therefore necessary that when the Sub Inspector cannot arrive in time, the investigation should be conducted by the village magistrate who should, however, whenever possible, await the arrival of a subordinate police officer before commencing it. When in exceptional cases, it is impossible to secure the attendence of the village magistrate, the investigation may be conducted by the head constable in charge of the out-post and in such cases the investigations will be checked by the Sub Inspectors, wherever practicable.

Offg. Inspector General of Police.

Extract of section 315 of the Bombay District Police Manual.

Section. 315. Head constables are the petty officers of the police. They are subject to the orders of the Sub Inspector placed over them, and to the superior officers of the police force; they are entitled to the obedience of all police subordinate to them within the limits of the charge that may be assigned to them. They must report all crime within their charges and the probability there may appear to be that any offence for which the police may arrest without warrant is about to be committed within their charges ~~of~~ to the Sub Inspectors of their several police stations, but not wait for orders before proceeding to make the necessary inquiries for the discovery and apprehension of offenders. In the prevention of crime and in maintaining order they will obey such orders as their superior officers may give them. In cases of sudden or supicious death a head constable or if a head constable be not present, a constable will prevent the burning, burying or exposure (as among the Parsis) of the corpses until he may receive the orders of the Sub Inspector or superior officer. When in charge of particular ~~out~~posts or circles of villages they will act in all police matters in concert with the heads of the village police. They will be held responsible for bringing to the immediate notice of their superior officers all neglect of duty on the part of either Stipendiary or Village Police, and any disobedience of orders or other mis-behaviour on the part of the former.
